CHURCH ACTIVITIES

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

The young men in Mrs. Burbank's Sunday school class have organized a "Young Men's Universalist Association," and elected the following officers: President, Harry N. Young; 1st Vice Pres., Chester F. Howe; 2nd Vice Pres., Roger Sloan; Sec., Vivian F. Hutchins; Treas., J. H. Little. Regular meetings will be held on the first Monday of each month. The December meeting will be the annual meeting. The Sunday school is preparing a Christmas concert, and will have a "Tree" and supper, Saturday evening, the 23rd. Subject of the morning sermon next Sunday, "The Power of Thought." The topic of the evening will be "Getting and Giving, the Need of Both."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

The Christmas eve and supper given by the Ladies' Club last Thursday was very successful. The tables of fancy and useful articles, aprons of various kinds, candy table and parcel post all came in for their share of patronage. The ten served in the parlor proved cheering and refreshing. The supper committee have received many compliments for their part in making the affair a success. The Ladies' Club wish to thank the ladies who served so efficiently at the various tables at the fair, and would be most happy to welcome such capable workers to their ranks. The members of the Sunday School and parents, who were so delightfully entertained at Mrs. Gehring's home last Saturday afternoon extend a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Gehring and Mrs. Mills. The subject of the sermon next Sunday will be, "God With Us." Miss Ida Packard will lead the Christian Endeavor service at seven in the evening. The Sunday school attendance last Sunday was the largest for the year.

METHODIST CHURCH.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church meets Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Ira Jordan. Plans for the observance of Christmas are going forward. There will be the usual sermon and special music at the forenoon service on December 24th, but the evening service will be omitted in the interest of the Community Christmas program. The supper for the Sunday school children will come on Monday evening followed by a concert by the children and young people of the church and the church Christmas tree.

A large attendance gathered last Sunday evening to hear Mr. R. R. Springer give his impressions of "Bible Sunday" whom he recently saw and heard in the Boston Tabernacle meetings now going on.

In Mr. Springer's view the evangelist is one of the greatest figures in our national religious life concerning whose sincerity and usefulness there can be no doubt. As to the secret of his power, it was not attributed to his organization, his corps of trained helpers, the splendid musical ability of the great choir and its leader, nor even to his own originality and earnestness in bringing his message. All these things help, and help tremendously, but there is a common feeling that only a rich measure of blessing from God himself can fully explain the man Sunday and the work he is doing. In speaking of Mr. Sunday with people upon the street or in places of business, Mr. Springer found severe critics only among those who had not heard the great evangelist.

The sermon on "Mother" was read in part as an example of Mr. Sunday's style, and also for lessons it carried.

Many from other churches were present, Rev. W. C. Curtis having part in the service. All greatly appreciated the address of the evening.

BETHEL INN

Happenings of the Week

Mr. W. W. Hastings was a dinner guest at the Inn on Sunday.

Mr. Frank L. Harlow, representative of the Northwestern Ins. Co., has been in town.

The Wednesday afternoon tea will continue to be held from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. These teas are given for the guests of the Inn and their friends.

The Blanchard family left for their home in New Jersey on Monday. They called at the Inn, Sunday, to say "Good Bye" to their numerous friends who will miss them very much.

Mr. Robert L. Dempster was again at the Inn rehearsing for the community play to be given soon. There seems to be much interest taken in these plays which promise to be a great success.

Mrs. L. H. Cilley was in Boston on business last week, returning Friday night just in time for the dance. Her return was unexpected and gave her many friends a pleasant surprise as all had expressed regret at her absence.

Judge Herrick joined Mr. Fred Tibbetts and Mr. L. H. Cilley at a game of pool one evening last week. The Judge won out although he had not played before for twenty years. The Judge hopes that Mr. Tibbetts and Mr. Cilley will practice up so he can enjoy a real game with them later.

An informal dance was held at the Inn, Friday evening, and was well attended. The Blanchard family motored in from their camp. They are all fine dancers and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Mrs. O. L. Mills was also present, as well as many Bethel people, and all spent a very pleasant evening. Popcorn and apples were served.

Mr. Robert Winsor, Mrs. Winsor and Miss Winsor were week end guests at the Inn. They entertained Mrs. Eames and Miss Eames at dinner, Sunday, after which they enjoyed an auto ride. Mr. Winsor and daughter left Sunday afternoon, and Mrs. Winsor stayed until Monday afternoon. Mrs. Winsor hopes to return later in the season for a longer stay.

THE COMPLETED JOURNEY.

In loving sympathy with those who were nearest and dearest to Mrs. Georgia Little.

We miss the dear face at the window
That was wont to greet us of yore,
And one sweet voiced welcome is lacking
As we enter the open door.

But memories of her come thronging,
And, almost, she is with us here,
Just a veil seems to hide the loved features
And the eyes that saw always so clear.

All at eve when the day's work is finished
And the twilight comes quiet and grey,
They will hasten to light up the home nest
Because it was ever her way
To keep the glad home fires burning
With a welcome for every one;
To her there were never shadows
For always she looked toward the sun.

Her life was so full of love's brightness
That all whom she knew felt its glow,
So our hearts grew heavy with sadness
When God called her to onward go.

Yet to her it was only a journey
That should end near the Great White Throne
Where she waits in God's beautiful country

To welcome her loved ones home
Midst the hills of old New Hampshire
Her basket is laid for aye,
But the soul on pinions of swiftness
To Heaven has hastened away
And though often our feet may falter
While our hearts beat heavy with pain
In Heaven, where it's always "June time"

We shall find and greet her again,
Aldie Kendall Mason.

ROUND TABLE CLUB

Celebrates 175th Meeting with Banquet

A most pleasant social event, was the observance of the 175th meeting of the Round Table Club at the home of one of the members, Miss Muriel S. Park, Thursday evening last. Organized eight years ago under the direction of Mrs. O. M. Mason who ever since has continued her interest in it and directed its work, it has devoted itself to study, social service and general culture to the great benefit and advantage of all its members. The Club has always maintained a small membership, never more than ten and two of these honorary, now with but seven. During its life it has had many enjoyable social times, but none better than this last meeting which was made "gentlemen's night" and to which each of the six young lady members present invited a gentleman guest. The meeting opened with the usual for malties and some routine business was transacted. Immediately after its adjournment after a short session the club song was sung by the members.

Then all went to the dining room for the banquet for which much preparation had been made. The room was prettily decorated with potted plants, club colors and banners bearing the inscription "R. T. C." The long dining-table was laid for twelve and made a very attractive appearance. Over the center and suspended from the ceiling was a dainty banner, the work of Miss Marion Frost, inscribed "175th Meeting of the 'R. T. C.'" This banner was in red and white, the club colors. On the table was a large bouquet of red and white roses as a centerpiece and from this there ran twelve strips of red ribbon to each plate and attached to the end of each ribbon was a place-card of dainty design in water colors, the work of Miss Naomi Smith and Ernestine Philbrook. On each card was some scene or thing which suggested the name of the one who was to occupy the place. Much jollity was occasioned by the finding of the different places. The menu was varied and included almost everything that one could desire to tempt the taste.

After about an hour devoted to a good time and doing justice to the many good things placed before them the announcement was made that attention would be given to the after-dinner program. Miss Muriel S. Park served as toast-master in a very graceful manner and introduced the different speakers with appropriate remarks including several laughable allusions and interspersed with some pleasing rhymes. Miss Ernestine Philbrook spoke upon the "Club's History." Miss Marion Frost, "The educative value of the Club's work." Miss Naomi Smith upon the "Social side of the Club's activities." Miss Dorothy Hutchins, "The Service side of the Club." and Miss Hazel Keniston on "The Club's Ideals." Only one of the gentlemen guests was called upon. Mr. Herbert Bean, who spoke in behalf of the young men and in well chosen words thanked the members of the club for their hospitality. All the young ladies were pleasing, bright and easy in their responses, and much merriment was occasioned by the exercises throughout.

Following this, games were played, including charades, and finally all the twelve joined in the singing of several popular songs including the Gould's Academy song and other school favorites. The guests present were: Herbert Bean, Wm. Hall, Vivian Hutchins, Earl Watson, Winfield Howe and Lester Brooks. One member of the club, Miss Alice Gunther, was unable to be present.

MR. ERNEST SWICKER.

Mr. Ernest Swicker, aged 29 years, died at his home on West Bethel Flat last Saturday, December 9, after a long illness.

Mr. Swicker was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Whitefield Swicker, and came to Bethel from Nova Scotia several years ago together with his parents. He is survived by father and mother, five sisters and a wife.

The funeral was held at the home on Monday afternoon, the Rev. W. C. Curtis speaking words of comfort; interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

POST OFFICE PATRONS.

To facilitate the handling of the Christmas mail the Bethel Post Office will keep open until 8 o'clock p. m. on the evenings of Dec. 20 to 23 inclusive.

GOULD'S ACADEMY

Ruth Cole spent the week end with her friend, Esther Tyler.

The Christmas issue of the Academy Herald will be ready for circulation this week.

Miss Elizabeth Leslie, Miss Maud Howard, Miss Nellie Whitman and Mr. Elmer Small will spend the Christmas vacation at their respective homes.

The Y. W. C. A. girls greatly appreciate the kindly interest and patronage of the townspeople at their Japanese sale. A goodly sum was realized towards the Makonkey fund.

The Parliamentary Law class has chosen a committee of three consisting of Hazel Keniston, Naomi Smith and Harry Young, to arrange for a debate to be given in the near future.

In a fast but clean game Gould's Academy defeated Norway High 23 to 10 in the gymnasium, Friday night. The boys played well and the school spirit shown by the student body was such as has not been seen in the recent history of Gould's.

At the Missionary meeting of the Y. W. C. A., last week a part of the time was spent in dressing dolls which are to be sent to a colored school at Beaufort, South Carolina. The missionary committee have collected from the girls jars of home made jelly which the association has voted to send to the Salvation Army in Lewiston for distribution.

SCHOOL NOTES.

All schools are in session again.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 20.

Miss Clara L. Jackson of Milton has been appointed to teach the Walker's Mills school for the winter term.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Bethel Parent-Teacher Association will be held at 8:00 p. m., Dec. 13 at the brick schoolhouse.

All teachers of the district are expected to be present at the brick schoolhouse, Friday, Dec. 23, and see a demonstration of the Clark method of writing, given by the author. A teachers meeting will be held immediately after.

Jackets have been placed around the stoves at Northwest Bethel, the Flat, Walker's Mills and the Milton schools. In Greenwood the stoves at Locke's Mills, Howe Hill, Greenwood City, Tubbs and Bryant schools have been jacketed.

In accordance with the recommendation of Mr. Allan, State Agent for Rural Schools, the seats and desks of all rooms in the brick building have been rearranged so that those on the east side of the building face toward Mr. Philbrook's and those of the West side toward High street. New blackboards will be put up as soon as they arrive.

"WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN?"

There is not the slightest doubt but that "Where Are My Children?", the dating photo play which will be shown at Odell Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 15, has made the biggest kind of a hit in New York, Chicago and Boston, and in fact in every city where it has been seen. It has created a positive sensation. Night after night and day after day finds the lobby of the theatre crowded, and the sidewalk congested by persons desirous of seeing this great film. And the crowd that is formed after each first performance, as the spectators are leaving by one set of doors while others are entering by a different set, is most impressive.

There is no doubt of the success of "Where Are My Children?" in other ways than measured simply by attendance. It has caused much thought and discussion of subjects hitherto tabooed, except in private, and according to many interested in the subject of birth control much good is bound to come of free and open discussion. The fact that a number of cases have of late been prominent in the papers and courts, has militated in favor of the picture, both physically and morally.

The excellent setting, too, has done much to make the picture a success. The fame of Tyronne Power needs no trumpeting, and this sterling actor has entered heart and soul into the character of the district attorney, so fond of children but with none of his own.

A STORE RICH WITH GIFT HINTS.

Whether you intend buying or not, I want every reader of this who can possibly call, to do so and see the display.

Some entirely new lines, many of the latest ideas the city markets are offering, and exceptional values in other goods are here to help make the largest December business this store has ever done. Large as past years have been, I am determined this year to eclipse all records on volume of sales, and if good values, fair prices, fresh, clean, up-to-date stock and right treatment will produce the result, I feel sure of record breaking business.

Space forbids mention of all suitable gifts but below are a few suggestions.

4. In the opinion of the Board it is inconsistent with the duties of their position for agents to regularly engage in the business of boarding children.

5. The Board does not approve of agents advancing money in payment of the expenses of the support and education of children committed to their temporary custody by the court; they should require itemized bills from the persons furnishing the services or supplies, to be approved by the agent, and forwarded to the proper town officials for payment.

6. Hereafter, except in so far as is necessary to bring up to date any reports of previous work not complete at this time, and in emergencies where the authority of the Board therefore has been obtained prior to the employment, bills for clerk hire, stenographer's services, etc., by agents will not be approved by the Board.

7. Paragraph 6 of the Instruction circular dated April 25, 1916, is amended to read as follows: Detailed particulars of all work done by agents for the protection of children are not required to be included in the report. Report will be made upon each open case each month. Such report should summarize as briefly as is consistent with an understanding of the case the work which has been done on that case during the month, the conditions surrounding the children, etc. When the complaint is first received, the nature of the complaint should be definitely stated. Thereafter, it will not be necessary to attempt to write out except in the briefest possible way what people say about the case. Names and addresses, including street addresses in cities, of all persons having any knowledge of the case should be given in the report.

EFFECT OF GOOD ROADS.

Selling Price of Tillable Farm Land Increases More than Total Cost of Improvements.

To determine as far as possible the exact dollars and cents effect on a county of the improvement of bad roads, specialists of the Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering of the U. S. Department of Agriculture made economic surveys in eight counties in each of the years from 1910 to 1915, inclusive.

This study of the increase in the values of farm lands in the eight counties reveals the rather interesting fact that following the improvement of the main market roads the increase in the selling price of tillable farm lands served by the roads has amounted to from one to three times the total cost of the improvements. The increase in values in those instances which were recorded ranged from 33 per cent to 80 per cent in Spotsylvania County, Va.; from 75 to 104 in Dinwiddie County, Va.; 70 to 85 in Lee County, Va.; 25 to 100 in Wise County, Va.; 9 to 114 in Franklin County, N. Y.; 50 to 100 in Dallas County, Ala.; 25 to 50 in Lauderdale County, Miss.; and from 50 to 100 in Manatee County, Fla. The estimates of increase were based for the most part upon the territory within a distance of 1 mile on each side of the roads improved.

In Spotsylvania County a careful record was made in 1910 of 35 farms located on the road selected for improvement. Of the 7 farms sold in 1915 the prices actually paid show increases of from 37 to 116 per cent over the 1910 valuation. The average value after the roads were improved was $28.25 per acre, as compared with $17.31 previous to the improvement. In 1913 four transfers of farm land were on the basis of $30.11 per acre, whereas the properties were listed in 1910 at only $13.89 per acre. It appears that the 1,451 acres sold in 1914 increased in value, $25,500, or 80 per cent or from $24.40 to $44.10 per acre. In Dinwiddie County, Va., the actual price of 43 farms sold or offered for sale from 1909 to 1914 ranged in price from $2.22 to $43.74 per acre before the roads were built, and from $24.70 to $73.00 per acre after the roads were improved.

In Lee County, Va., a study of eight tracts along the roads before and after improvement indicated that these properties increased about $23 per acre, or about 70 per cent.

In Wise County, Va., a study of eight representative farms located on roads showed that they increased in value from an average of $19.06 per acre before improvement to $29.44 after the roads were improved. There were increases in value in other sections of from $60 to $200 or even $100 per acre.

In Franklin County, N. Y., the figures seem to indicate that the change from earth, sandy, and loam roads to bituminous macadam was followed by increases averaging $12.50 per acre, or about 50 per cent.

In Dallas County, Ala., careful investigation seemed to indicate that road improvement has added at least $3 to each acre of land within a half mile of improved roads. Tracts sold at from $8 to $10 per acre were sold again after road improvement at from $23 to $25 per acre.

In Lauderdale County, Miss., the total assessed valuation of real property outside of the city was $2,707,518. This increased in 1914 after road improvement to $3,183,909, or 17.6 per cent. Local real estate men place the increase in land values as a result of improved roads at from 25 to 50 per cent.

In Manatee County, Fla., careful study of sales and real estate records indicated that the improvement of roads has added from 15 to 160 per cent, or at least $15 per acre, to the selling price of all lands within one-half mile of improved roads. This would give a total of $811,000, or more than twice the value of the bonds issued.

AGITATION FOR NEW POSTAL RATES.

The ways are now being prepared for the launching of the movement for the readjustment of postal rates in the next session of Congress. This problem was to have been taken up in the last session but had to be deferred on account of the consideration required by railway mail pay. Since this has been disposed of the committee are prepared to take up the matter of placing the various postal rates on a more equitable basis.

A zone system of rates for second class matter is being prominently urged to take the place of the present flat rate which was adopted nearly forty years ago. The present rate has for some time been regarded as a discrimination against the newspapers in favor of the great national magazines. Like the parcel post the proposed zone rates would be based on the length of the haul.

The postal committee have been besieged by petitions bearing millions of names and several hundred thousand letters from individuals urging a readjustment of postal rates with a view of making possible one cent letter postage. A survey of the situation indicates that sufficient changes will be made in the various rates to permit the granting of a 1 cent rate on local delivery letters in the next session of Congress.

Chairman Moon of the House Postal Committee, today said: "I think that the Committee will take up this second-class mail matter at the next session and press it to a conclusion at once. While I cannot speak for the Committee, this is my desire in the matter. I do not know what kind of a bill we will pass, whether it will have a zone feature attached to it or not. This view has been presented frequently in years past, and sometimes received favor and sometimes not. As to what shape the legislation will be in I am not able to say, but I am sure the Committee will give it the best possible shape in the public interest."

Commenting on the proposed changes in the rates on letters Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, formerly chairman of the House Postal Committee and now a member of a similar Committee in the Senate, said: "The Government is making a large profit from first class mail, just how much, it is hard to say, but it must be nearly one cent of every two paid for each stamp placed on a letter. And the profit derived on letters for delivery in the same city or town in which they are mailed must be even greater. In view of this condition, I believe that Congress should take up the matter of more equitably adjusting the rates of postage."

Congressman Ernest W. Roberts, of Massachusetts, takes the stand that "any encouragement that can be extended business by the Government, without injury to the individual, should be done with as little delay as possible. Congress could greatly improve the situation by reducing the rate of postage from two cents to 1 cent on local delivery letters, without any drain on the public exchequer."

"Every patron of the postal service will appreciate a one cent rate on drop letters because of the great benefit to be derived by individuals, business establishments, banks, churches, fraternal clubs, and in fact, all forms of business, social and domestic life," said Representative Joseph Walsh of Massachusetts. "And further the reduction will mean an falling off in the revenues, as it is generally regarded that the volume of mail will practically be doubled immediately upon the installation of the new rate."

POULTRY SHIPPERS' LAW.

All persons who ship live poultry should become acquainted with the Federal law regulating the size and type of coop for shipping fowls, and the number of birds allowed to a crate.

Familiarity with the law will at least save shippers from violating it through ignorance of its requirements. The law requires that all coops have solid bottoms and slatted or spindled tops and sides. When slats are used, they should, under the law, be not more than an inch and a half wide. The use of boxes for shipping poultry is forbidden.

Coops for turkeys should be not less than 20 inches high; for geese, old roosters and fowls, not less than 16 inches high; and for ducks, small fowls and spring chickens, not less than 12 inches high. Standard coops measure two feet wide by three feet long.

The following is suggested as the proper number to be placed in each standard coop:

Turkeys: Gobblers, 5; hens, 6. Geese: Large, 6; medium, 8; small, 10. Ducks: Large, 10; medium, 14; small, 18. Roosters and fowls: 7 to 10 lbs., 8; 5 to 7 lbs., 10; 4 to 5 lbs., 14; 3 to 4 lbs., 16; 2 to 3 lbs., 18; 1 to 2 lbs., 20.

Squab pigeons should not be shipped under six weeks old. The law makes the shipper liable to fine and imprisonment for the abuse of poultry by shipping in low, overcrowded or poorly ventilated coops, and authorizes taking charge of any animals being carried in a cruel manner.

Necessary expenses which may be incurred by taking charge and keeping such shipments shall, according to the law, be a lien thereon, to be paid before the birds can be lawfully received.

CARRYING COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS.

Carrying companies and their agents also make themselves amenable to the law in receiving and transporting poultry that is not properly packed. Compliance with these regulations will be a benefit to the shippers, as the poultry will arrive at the market in better condition.

Every poultry shipper will do well to spend a few hours in the poultry section of the produce markets of the nearest large city. By studying the variety of packages there he will learn which is best.

THE GREATEST WEATHER PROFIT.

Rev. I. H. Hicks, of St. Louis, the greatest and most successful of weather forecasters, died on Oct. 12, 1916, after a short illness. Before he took sick he had entirely completed his work on the great Hicks Almanac for 1917 and had read the proofs of all his weather forecasts for a year in advance. This noted Almanac is now ready and is a fine specimen of Almanac making.

Prof. Hicks' portrait was painted by a leading artist of St. Louis in May, and this portrait printed in colors, makes the frontispiece of the 1917 Almanac. The 1917 Almanac is 35 cents by mail. Prof. Hicks' monthly Magazine, "Word and Works," will also be continued by the publishers. Word and Works one year with the Hicks Almanac is one dollar. Send 5 cents for a sample copy of Word and Works. Address WORD AND WORKS PUBLISHING COMPANY, 3401 Franklin Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

A QUESTION OF TIME.

She was a young and pretty girl of a sporting turn of mind. Somehow she heard that a certain horse was to win a certain race, and deciding to indulge in a little speculation, she went to a "bookie" and put a dollar on for a win, asking how much she would get if it came off.

"If it starts 20 to 1, you get $21 back," said the bookie; "if at 10 to 1, $11 back; if at 5 to 1, you will get $9 back."

"I see," said the maiden, "and if it starts at 1 o'clock, how much do I get them?"—Kansas City Star.

Mark Twain A Real American

Mark Twain was a steamboat pilot. He was a searcher for gold in the far west. He was a printer. He worked bitterly hard. All this without a glimpse of the great destiny that lay before him. Then, with the opening of the great wide west, Mark Twain's genius bloomed. He had found his great place.

His fame spread through the nation. It flew to the ends of the earth, till his work was translated into strange tongues. From then on, the path of fame lay straight to the high places.

The world has asked is there an American literature? Mark Twain is the answer. He is the heart, the spirit of America. From his poor and struggling boyhood to his glorious, splendid old age, he remained as simple, as democratic as the plainest of our forefathers.

A little later the two women went up on to the balcony floor, where the millinery department is located, looking at ribbons and other finery, and as they thought unobserved, they were immediately arrested and searched, being found well loaded with plunder. ## SCHOOL TEACHERS

Teaching is wearing work, and only those teachers who take good care of their health can stand the daily strain of the class room. The dull eyes, pale cheeks, weary head and unstrung nerves of many teachers show the need of building up the nerve force, improving the blood and helping the general condition. Have you heard of "L. F. Atwood's Medicine"? It is a very old home remedy, and entirely reliable. You can take it with the assurance that only good effects follow its use. It is not a "cure-all," but a general conditioner which acts on the stomach, liver and bowels, and by putting these important organs in order, improves the appetite, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves and clears the head. Try a bottle and note how soon you feel its beneficial influence. Buy a bottle at your nearest store, or write to-day for free sample.

OH! MY BACK!

The Expression of Many a Kidney Sufferer in Bethel

A stubborn backache is cause to suspect kidney trouble. When the kidneys are inflamed and swollen, stooping brings a sharp twinge in the small of the back, that almost takes the breath away. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve sluggish kidneys—relieve aching backs. Here's a Bethel proof:

B. F. Brown, High St., Bethel, says: "I was troubled by a dull, heavy ache across my back. It annoyed me nearly all the time and I couldn't stoop or do anything without bringing on pain. I often noticed when I got up quickly, I was dizzy and little spots floated before my eyes. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I got them at Bossman's Drug Store. I soon had relief. I used, all told, about five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and today I am free from all symptoms of kidney complaint."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The trouble was, and some got-ought shocks from the ground, which seemed greatly charged with the electric current. An examination by electrical experts showed a short circuit from the big dynamo of the Magnesium Company, so that the ground around near the dynamo cover and the wire fence were heavily charged with electricity. Steps were taken immediately to remedy the trouble, and it is conceded that it was very fortunate that no human got near the fence where the horse was killed.

County Attorney Beliveau was called to Waterford last week to assist in the investigation of the murder charge against Albert B. Bean of Waterford whose daughter, Inez, died very suddenly on that day. The daughter was eighteen years of age and it is charged that her father caused death by an attempt at abortion. As County Attorney Beliveau's term of office expires on January 1st, he will turn his evidence over to the incoming County Attorney, Mr. Lucian Blanchard of this town, who will handle the case later.

The selectmen of Rumford have posted a notice for a hearing at their office in the Municipal Building, Dec. 16, on the petition of Walter Pettengill and others, asking for the location of the following street extensions, namely: Cumberland street from Essex avenue to Lincoln avenue; York street from Essex avenue to Lincoln avenue; Essex avenue from Penobscot to York street; Penobscot street from Stephens High school building to Lincoln avenue; Lincoln avenue from the center of Hancock street to Penobscot street.

The call for extensions are all according to the plans of the Rumford Falls Power Co., and nearly all have been graded sufficient for the passing of teams therein, and many lots have been sold for building purposes, some foundations put in this fall ready for building in the spring of 1917, and are in line with Rumford's future growth.

A wedding of interest to Rumford friends of Mrs. Helen T. Williamson, widow of A. S. Williamson, and for several years a resident here, where Mr. Williamson was in the drug business, took place recently at Auburn when Mrs. Williamson was married to Edwin F. Stubbs of Dorchester, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs will live at Milton, Mass.

D. E. Hayes has built a small addition to his house on Knox street, and has installed therein a bath and wash room, with set tubs. The house has been leased for the winter months, but in the spring Mr. and Mrs. Hayes plan to again occupy their rent on the lower floor.

Mrs. James MacGregor and daughter, Ruth, of Franklin street are spending the winter at Lowell, Mass., where they have taken a furnished house for the winter.

Mr. George LaCourse, for fourteen years a local agent for the Metropolitan Insurance Company, has resigned his position on account of ill health, and will go to a sanatorium for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stevens of Prospect avenue are expecting to leave soon for a winter's sojourn in the South. The formal dedication of the new municipal building will be held near New Year's under the auspices of the town officers. Thus far, the committee in charge of the matter have not been successful in finding rooms in the building which may be used to advantage by the Boy Scouts. Charles Johnson, submaster at the High school has been elected by the Scouts as assistant scout master for the local patrol.

Size up the little things of life and in time you will be able to take advantage of the big ones.

A GOOD CHRISTMAS PRESENT WOULD BE A SUBSCRIPTION OF ONE YEAR TO THE CITIZEN.

The buildings were not occupied except occasionally for a short time by the owners or parties admitted by them and there was no one there at the time. Inactivity Causes Constipation.

Lack of exercise in the winter is a frequent cause of constipation. You feel heavy, dull and listless, your complexion is sallow and pimply, and energy is at low ebb. Clean up this condition at once with Dr. King's New Life Pills, a mild laxative that relieves the congested intestines without griping. A dose before retiring will assure you a full and easy movement in the morning. 25c at your Druggist.

REDUCING THE GLARE FROM AUTOMOBILE HEADLIGHTS.

Three Simple Adjustments are as Effective as Most Expensive Appliances. There is a rule of courtesy among the better class of automobilists which teaches, "Do as you would be done by." And it applies with special emphasis to the use of glaring headlights at night. Encouraged by this spirit and by the passing of city ordinances against the use of glaring headlights in city limits, more than a score of anti-glare appliances have been put on the supply market within the last few months. They sell for almost any amount, from a few cents up to six or eight dollars. Notwithstanding the fact that many of these appliances are open to objection, however, thousands of them have been sold, and if the buyer but knew it he might have used the adjustments on the lamps to bring about a more satisfactory and efficient solution of the difficulty without the expense. Three operations are necessary in order to obtain the greatest amount of effective illumination and keep most of the glare out of the eyes of passing automobilists. They are: (1) Tilt the headlights slightly downward so that when the car is standing on the level the center of the beam strikes the roadway anywhere from 75 to 100 feet ahead. It has been suggested that car manufacturers can be of great help in the campaign for reducing glare by making this adjustment when the car is assembled. (2) Frost or lacquer the lamp bulbs from the tip back to within about five-eighths of an inch of the base. (3) Carefully adjust the lamp to make the beam of light as narrow as possible. Carrying out these suggestions will result in a light of the greatest intensity concentrated on the roadway at the point where the driver needs the most light. As the beam of light is projected downward the intense rays will not be high enough to annoy or blind the eyes of passing pedestrians or chauffeurs. No device yet invented can prevent the beam of light from rising when the car comes over the brow of a hill. Under such conditions each driver should realize the annoyance his lamps may cause and dim them.

Events of Interest From Washington.

By J. E. Jones.

THE RAILROAD QUESTION.
President Wilson, in his message to Congress, on December 7 of last year, suggested the wisdom of "taking a new assessment" of the railroads and their relations to the public. As a result, the Newlands' Committee, made up from members of both houses of Congress, was created.

Mr. Alfred P. Thum, who made the opening statement to the Newlands' Joint Committee on Interstate Commerce at the beginning of its sessions, in prefacing an analysis of the conditions that are hampering railroad development, admitted on behalf of the railroads that the principle of public regulation is recognized as a permanent part of Government. He said that public regulation of railroads became a fact twenty-nine years ago and that the fight against the railroads since then has proceeded to a large degree along the lines of "a system of correction." In comparing the supervision of banks and railroads, he asserted that the Government's treatment of the banks was in the nature of a constructive program; that the supervision of railroads was "part of a destructive program."

For a dozen years "the Railroad Question" has been constantly before the American people. The difficulty has been that as soon as one phase of the problem began to be understood by the past of the people that might be described as "one thoughtful citizen," some violent twist of conditions has completely changed the entire situation, and "the railroad question" and "the fight against the railroads" and "the fight for the railroads" have been resolved into brand new shapes. LaFollette and Cummings fought the old regime that manipulated the railroads. They early realized that constructive legislation to properly deal with the great "railroad question" should be enacted by the federal government; and both of them became ardent advocates of regulation by the national government, acknowledging the futility of forty-six or forty-eight states attempting to govern interstate commerce.

Congress has now assumed control of the railroad question and promises to rectify the indeterminate legislation fostered at the instance of politicians who have ridden into public office through the prejudices they created against public service corporations. There has been a merry havoc of a time in railroad affairs, running over the course of a number of years. Reorganization plans, receiverships and bankruptcy have menaced the country's great transportation interests.

Congressman Adamson, vice chairman of the Joint Committee of Congress, which is charged with investigating the entire railroad problem, has declared that the "railways must be protected." Mr. Adamson is author of the eight-hour law, and this piece of government policy may fall within the scope of the investigation. Senator Cummings, who is also on the committee, is expectant of real results at last for the reforms he has so long advocated. Congressman Esch, early identified with the Wisconsin movement, is a member of the committee. Senator Newlands, one of the earliest advocates of Federal incorporation of railroad companies, is chairman. Other members are Senators Underwood, of Alabama; Robinson, of Arkansas; Brannan, of Connecticut; and Representatives Sims, of Tennessee; Cullon, of Indiana; and Hamilton, of Michigan.

Stripped of "wherewithals" and "resources," the entire situation brings itself down to the point where the Government is confined that the railroads have suffered enough from hazardous legislation, and the opportunity is given that the railroads at this time are, as a rule, efficiently and honestly managed. At any rate, they represent such an enormous property value, and are so vital to the industrial and social existence of the country, as to demand that the responsibility to the public—regardless of capital invested in the properties, calls for a permanent "show down," and a business-like adjustment of the relations between the people's government and the railroad interests. "Government ownership" is one of the angles to the problem that will be taken up.

Government control, of the most far-reaching kind, is certain to follow as a result of the investigation. Rates, securities—and possibly even the question of wages, and the hours of a day's labor, are among the matters sought to be regulated. However, there is no disposition to interfere with the valuation and taxation of physical property within the recognized powers of the states.

The present temper of Administration leaders, and Congress, is to discountenance a continuance of the existing dual system of State and Federal railroad control and to remedy the evil by assuming full authority on behalf of the Federal Government.

As one of the results of the present inquiry it is probable that the Interstate Commerce Commission will be enlarged and its power extended to cover all carriers of interstate-commerce. It is suggested that districts for the hearing of cases and the settling of disputes may be established, somewhat along the plan of the federal judicial system, where district judges try local causes of action. If this plan prevails, the right of appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission, as now established in the National Capital, will doubtless be provided for. It is also suggested that regional divisions of the Interstate Commerce Commission may be established, as has been done in the control of the banking system of the country.

Perhaps, after all, it is true that the United States is entering upon a new era in its industrial affairs. In any event, Congress and the Administration never undertook a bigger or more important task than that of "settling the railroad question," which it now seems to be attacking in earnest.

GOETHEALS AND HIS ORBIT.
General Goethals says: "As predicted at the time the great Calobra movements occurred, the slides will be overcome finally and for all time, notwithstanding the calamity howlers and in spite of the disastrous predictions of the know-it-alls."

While General Goethals and his associates have proven themselves to be first-class mining engineers, they have been unable to withstand the constant criticism that has been heaped upon them. Perhaps the principal part of this criticism has been from concerns interested in the manner in which the dredging is done, who miss the plums that fell into their laps when steam shovels were in operation. It is charged that these interests attempted to close the canal entirely, and to have a great section of the country drained, in order that the more expensive method of "wet-dredging" might be replaced by the spectacular, but very expensive method of the steam shovel.

The rivalry among contractors likewise furnishes the reason for the "nigger in the wood pile."

ANALYSES AND ASSAYS OF ROCKS.
What the Geological Survey Can Do With Your Specimens.

The question is frequently asked of the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, "What is the difference between an assay, an analysis, and an expert examination of a specimen of rock or mineral—such a specimen as may be sent to the Geological Survey by anyone who has found or thinks he has found a valuable mineral?" Most of the Survey's correspondents ask for assays of their specimens, others ask for analyses, and few appear to distinguish between the two. The Geological Survey can make neither an assay nor an analysis for private parties; it can, however, make a visual inspection of a specimen, or it can make a simple chemical test to determine whether the specimen contains a commercial amount of some valuable mineral, such as potash. Ninety-nine out of every hundred specimens submitted to the Survey are found to be commercially valueless. Such an inspection, or test, however, is widely different from an analysis. A complete analysis of a rock that is composed of many different minerals may require the more or less continual attention of a chemist for a month or six weeks, and such work is done by the Survey only in connection with its own scientific investigations. An assay, on the other hand, is usually a first test made to determine the exact metal content of an ore specimen. The Geological Survey makes no assays for private parties.

The Survey has recently reprinted its Bulletin 422, by W. F. Hillebrand, entitled, "The Analysis of Silicate and Carbonate Rocks." This is a revision of Bulletin 305, which was so highly valued in Germany that it was there translated and republished. It contains a detailed description of the analytical methods employed in the laboratory of the United States Geological Survey and represents the experience gained in the analysis of more than a thousand igneous rocks alone. These analyses have been carried to a degree of completeness previously unknown, by methods that have been carefully tested and proved, some of them devised in the Survey.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.
There will be a supper, concert and Christmas tree at the Universalist church, Saturday evening, Dec. 23, and it is all free to the members of the Sunday school, their parents, and all others who attend service in this church. It is hoped all these will be present to rejoice with the children in this, the greatest festival of the year. All come and be happy together. The supper hour will be 6 P. M., followed by the concert, closing with the distribution of gifts which the messengers of Santa Claus have placed on the tree. The church will be open in the afternoon and a committee having charge of the tree will be present to receive any gifts that may be brought and see that they are placed on or about the tree. The use of the tree is open to the old as well as the young, that all may feel that they are a part of the Christmas celebration.

Subject of next Sunday's sermon, "Christ enlightening the world."

METHODIST CHURCH.
Rev. D. B. Holt, District Superintendent, was present at the service on Tuesday evening, and gave a very helpful sermon on what it means to be a Christian.

Next Sunday the sermon will be on the Christmas theme, and the choir is preparing special music appropriate to the day. The picnic supper to the members of the Sunday school will be given on Monday evening at 6:15. The families interested are expected to bring material for the supper without soliciting. At 7:30 there will be the usual Christmas concert and tree.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.
A joyous Christmas sermon with appropriate and more joyous music next Sunday morning.

The usual picnic supper for the Sunday school and parish will be served in the dining room at 6:15, Saturday evening, followed by brief exercises and Christmas tree in the chapel. The evening service will be omitted on account of the Community Christmas tree and carols at 7 o'clock in the evening on the Common.

The annual Church Roll Call is scheduled for the first week in January. Notice of the day will be given later.

There will be a special collection for the Maine Missionary Society a week from next Sunday.

SCHOOL NOTES.
Music in the public schools will be the chief topic for discussion at the Parent-Teacher meeting the evening of Wednesday, Dec. 20. It is hoped that all who are interested in this important subject will be present to give their opinion. One of the leading educational magazines says: "Music when properly taught, stands for as much mental development and general culture as any other subject in the curriculum and should receive the same credits toward graduation from the local schools, and as entrance requirements in the colleges and universities."

What do you think? Come to the brick building this evening.

The flagpole at Northwest Bethel was taken down, a new rope put in and the pole set between cedar posts in a more desirable position. This did not cost the town a penny, the work being done by men of the neighborhood. It is said that a certain selectman from that section of the town was the leader.

Mr. Albert W. Clark has been engaged to demonstrate his system of writing at the Bethel National Bank, Dec. 22. The rural schools and the schools of Greenwood will be closed for the day in order that the teachers may be present. A teachers' meeting will follow.

Judging by the preparations that are being made it is evident that Santa Claus is expected to visit nearly all of the twenty-three schoolrooms of the district.

NOTICE.
The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Bethel National Bank will be held in the banking rooms of said bank, in Bethel, Maine, on Tuesday the ninth day of January, 1917 at two o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and the transaction of any other business that may legally come before said meeting.
